

---

allegations of a sexual nature, drugs, fraud, robbery

Olive pays particular attention to client care. She has represented people from all walks of life whether they be individuals who have been in and out of the criminal justice system to others who have never and find themselves in an environment that is alien to them. Olive has and the physically and mentally vulnerable. Her calm and effective manner in dealing with situations where clients have mental health issues has proven to be invaluable in serious and sensitive examined prosecution experts in highly technical cases in a way

Olive also has experience in advising and appearing at Inquest hearings. She has also been instructed in the course of a police emergency call out and advised bodies within the MET in respect of action is predominantly a defence advocate, she has also prosecuted on behalf of the RSPCA

RECENT CASES

R v A & others

Successfully defended a conspiracy to supply class A drugs, where the defendants were accused of significant drugs line. The prosecution produced months of mobile phone colocation evidence linking the defendant's phones to the drugs line. Olive successfully made a half time ct to find the

R v J

Successfully defended a man charged with attempted rape.

The defendant had been released from his sentence of imprisonment for a rape conviction. He then conditions of his licence by violating the terms of his curfew and going out in the evening. A friend had invited him to an unknown female's flat, the complainant in this case. An amount of alcohol was had by all the parties and some drugs were taken. The prosecution to put before the jury the defendant's conviction of rape and his licence conditions. Despite this, the jury found him not guilty of attempted rape.

R v M & others

Successfully defended a “third strike drugs offender” in a case that allowed the defendant’s previous convictions for drugs supply to go before the jury.

R v S

Successfully defended a vulnerable male with learning difficulties of raping his ex

R v M

Successfully defended a Mental Health Professional of raping his wife. Set against a background of

HISTORICAL CASES

R v C

Successfully defended a Senior Radiologist accused of damaging life saving equipment at Kings College Hospital. The defendant had held a prestigious position at the hospital as he had been pivotal in the introduction of the PET scanner at the hospital. The case involved complicated technical cross examination of prosecution witnesses namely radiologists who were present

R v G

Successfully defended a teacher of sexual assault on one of his female pupils.

R v H & Others

Successfully defended a serving police officer of assisting in the illegal entry of a Brazilian National.

R v R & Others

Successfully defended a young man of being involved as part of a group of males in raping two teenage

R v S & Others

Successfully defended D1 (S) of a conspiracy to kidnap, threats to kill and possession of a firearm. The prosecution relied on colocation evidence to link all the defendants in the same area at the time of the allegations.

R v H

Successfully defended a vulnerable male with Asperger’s and learning difficulties of sexual activity on

R v S

Successfully defended a defendant who was a long time carer, of 10 counts of tax benefit fraud.

R v C & Others

Successfully defended a law student of robbery in a cut throat case where D1 implicated C. D1 was

Contact Details

0207

7000